2022 The Foundling

Saint Laurent

HAHNDORF HILL
ADELAIDE HILLS

Winepilot, Ray Jordan - Oct 2026

95 POINTS

"An interesting story surrounds the St. Laurent variety. It was almost extinct 150 years ago before being rescued in a European monastery. Its origins, in fact, are quite obscure and largely unknown. But the good thing is that it has been saved and is now producing some quite wonderful, highly flavoursome and approachable medium-bodied red wines in the Adelaide Hills. It's vibrant, with a lovely lifted red fruit fragrance and a texture that is satiny smooth. It gets largely older, neutral French oak, but just a touch of new oak brings a little spicy edge to the nose initially and then lifts the palate through to its quite pure and brilliant finish."

"Gosh, a beautiful wine. You could say this is the top Saint Laurent in the country, though that might be twee considering the competition, so let's say it's a heck of a fine wine. It's lightweight, with gentle tannins, pretty red fruits and an attractive alpine herb character. So seamless, so delicious, so well balanced. Exceptional persistence and finesse to this wine. Something left of centre, but also familiar. Superb."
